Background

Our wines are the highest expression of the philosophy of our job: quality with no compromises. At Boroli, we believe that a great wine is the result of a great vineyard and a great terroir. This is why we have followed our passion for Barolo, the highest expression of Langa wines. We have always put together microvinification of our "crus" with Barolo DOCG, starting from the "Villero" and "Cerequio" vineyards. Our wines come from the Langa tradition both in vineyards and wineries, but, in both the production stages, they draw further strength from the continuous experimentation of innovative contributions, all aimed at an almost obsessive achievement of extreme quality. Our customers' satisfaction, even more than the gratifying reviews by the specialized press and the most important Guides in the world, confirms that we have taken the right path and spurs us to do our best in vineyards and wineries.

Tasting Notes

A clear ruby red colour, with very light orange reflections. A net aroma in which liquorice stands out at first, immediately followed by a fruity scent; the aroma makes you scent it again and again to discover different and pleasant facets. The fruity aroma magnificently prevails after a few minutes in a glass. A very enveloping, fresh and harmonious taste, with a delicate and tasty presence of wood. A long lasting taste that invites to sip it slowly again and again.
